POLICE LINE DO NOT CROSS

AIU VIOLENT ATTACK COVERAGE

Violent Attack events have clearly captured national attention, and unfortunately have become much more of a reality over the past few years. The randomness of these catastrophic events makes it almost impossible to predict the devastating consequences that these events may have on any targeted business or organization. These events have been reported in a variety of industry sectors, often with indiscriminate motivation to incite public fear while inflicting maximum loss of life. Unfortunately, in many cases it is almost impossible for a business to recover from, without properly structured insurance coverage. The standard property, liability, and terrorism coverages that are routinely included in insurance programs, may not respond to violent attack events, or they may not provide adequate coverage limits to meet the liability, property damage, business income losses, and reputation damage faced by companies after such an occurrence.

There are many uncertain areas relating to coverage for violent attack events under standard property, liability and terrorism policies that may result in leaving gaping coverage holes if not addressed by a dedicated violent attack policy. One of the key benefits in securing a special form active shooter policy is the crisis management services that are offered, as well as the preloss management training, relating to building security and other logistical safety measures that can be helpful in prevention and management of such events. As a responsible and knowledgeable agent, it is important to inform your insureds about these coverage options, and to discuss the potential risks in not having this issue dealt with effectively. By addressing this issue in a comprehensive and consultative manner, your insured can benefit from many tailored coverages and services that are available to develop a comprehensive defense against such an occurrence.
